

Symbolic universe, psychological universe

Theory- word etymology

Comes from the Greek word Thea – “a view” or “a sight”

A systematic enquiry to probe into the underlying implications of literary artifacts

Vaisesikha Sutra – Kannad

Kavyashastra – a manual for literary works

Apaat Dharma – emergency dharma

Philosophy – an amalgamation of the words Philo (love) + Sophos (wisdom)

Darshana – drish (to see/ to have a view or perspective) +

Science – not in the lexicon before 17th century, was called natural philosophy, the word came to be about in Newton’s time and his rather mechanistic science, the earlier philosophical orientation of sciences began to disappear

The Branches of Philosophy

- Epistemology (knowledge)
- Metaphysics: meta (beyond)
- Russel’s “The Celestial Teapot Hypothesis”: “the burden of proof then lies in me”
- Logic
- Ethics
- Politics
- Aesthetics

Indian Philosophy

Sruti vs smriti

Astika (those who believe in the authority of the vedas)- Samkhya, Nyaya, Mimansa, Vaishesika, Vedanta, Yoga and Nastika (those who rejected the authority of the vedas) – Vrihaspati (charvakas), Buddhism, Jainism, Ajivika (nityati)

Bhishma- Karuna, Adbhuta

Picasso – Bhaya

Roman Charity- Karuna,

Pity- Karuna

The spectator does not feel emotions, but Rasa.

The Natyashastra was, according to legend, written as the fifth Veda (because it was prescriptive in nature).

The story goes like this; after continuous fighting between the devas and asuras, the devas approached Brahma and told him that because of the asuras, the general population was gradually becoming immoral and chaotic. They said that not all people could read the Vedas and in order to be better human beings, they needed some mediums, by which they could be easily trained morally. Brahma replied that Shiva had already written a play and Brahma understood through that play that “theatre is the best medium for moral instructions”. He then called upon Bharata Muni and asked him to write a treaty. This consisted of instructions on what and how a yajna has to be performed.

Chapter 6 – what happens when in the mind of the spectator as they watch the play.

There are 8 primary Bhava

Rati – Sringara

Hasya – Hasa

Shoka – Karuna

Krodha – Roudra

Utsaha – veera

Bhaya – bhayankara

Juguspa – bibhatsa

Vismaya – Adbhuta

Sama – shanta (Abhinavagupta)